

WEB COURSES

To succeed in an online course, students must possess strong study skills, self-motivation, and the ability to work independently. While online courses are every bit as challenging as traditional courses, they require a degree of computer literacy (particularly some basic proficiency with internet and email), as well as effective time management skills. In internet-enhanced courses, the students may not meet on a regular basis as a group as they do in other courses. Thus, a key to success is maintaining ongoing communication with the instructor and other students in the class by email and telephone/voicemail. Please note required face-to-face meetings if applicable. Some web courses are entirely web-based. Some have one or two course meetings, while others are hybrids.
